

About Rangeline Design

My name is Kyla. Short and sweet yet always mispronounced. If you're wondering it's (K-eye-LA).

I started web design out of necessity for personal businesses in 1998. I did not go to a fancy college and get a degree that proves that I sat in a class. I'm completely self taught and learning more every day. I've always loved art and thoroughly enjoy expressing my ideas for the world to see. Graphic/Web design and development have become my love.

I am married to my soul mate, my perfect compliment, Joe. He's a nationally touring country music artist, aka Motongator Joe, who also has a syndicated radio program (Motongator Joe's Outlaw Hour) along with our country music festivals. You can learn more at www.bigtimecountry.com .

My hobbies include photography, reading, volleyball, art & snuggling with my australian shepherd Monster and catahoula Dingo.

I live in the beautiful Upper Peninsula of Michigan on our 116 acre ranch.
